Behind every object, place and person lies a connection. Wenlin Tan is an interdisciplinary artist from Singapore whose work is focused on fostering these connections. She draws inspiration from facets of the human condition, nature and our daily interactions. Working across different mediums such as digital art, painting, performance, photography and sculpture, she fosters connections via unexpected installations and participatory interventions, inviting one to observe and engage, to think and feel. As an illustrator & writer, she was selected as a finalist for PLACES, an illustration & travel writing mentorship program. Her short story 'The giant & the bird' & accompanying illustrations have been published by Epigram books Singapore in an anthology.
